Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

John 2 : 1 - 11

Running out of wine at a wedding. Can he do anything right? Re- with vineyards. Why does Jesus even groom leave the party and gather up more wine swers to such questions. Because even the ques- it is possible and would solve the inexplicable, people would think the groom as a buf- member the Cana countryside is filled have to perform a miracle. Let the which surrounds his home. There are no an- tion itself is inexplicable unless a possibility and the groom is drunk.

Pope Francis

We received this world as an inheritance from past generations, but also as a loan from future generations, to whom we will have to return it.

Prison Ministry (Part 1 of 2)

It must be the smallest of all ministries the Church serves with. It takes a special person to deal with the sadness of the prison life and listening to their personal stories. Many prisons do not allow regular worship services. Many prisoners have no visitors. Their people have given up on them. The chaplain, this stranger maybe his only visitor. You have to see Christ in them and be Christ to them. These are some of the most broken people in the world. Let us remember Christ came for prisoners too.

Political Theory (Interesting thought)

Men are qualified for civil liberty in exact proportion to their disposition to put moral chains upon their own appetites. Men of intemperate minds cannot be free. Their passions forge their fetters. Recent decades there has been a marked decline in the Christian sense of moral responsibility for one's own actions. If men and women will not govern themselves, they will be governed by other vices where society cannot exist.

Catechesis

Since Jesus by his death and resurrection redeemed us, why are we not in a heavenly state free from suffering, pain, sorrows and death?

We are offered a heavenly paradise but not an earthly paradise. We are still given the will to choose evil, right or wrong, good or bad. In this life, it is our decisions to choose life or death, peace or violence, love or hatred. God does not overrule our will.

Q&A

Why is Our Lady's statue always on the left side of the altar?

There is no Church law about the arrangement of statues in churches. This is a custom, but not a law.

Did you know?

The number of real Christmas trees sold in the U.S. 30 millions.

Christmas:

Christmas takes in the seasons of Advent, Christmas, Holy Family, Holy Innocents, Epiphany, Presentation.
